

Stranger in the Band

music and lyrics ©2005 Jesse Moore

Dm7

Am7

The sadness slips right through me

Like an indigo sensation

Keeps me cryin', lonely through the night

The madness sticks right to me

Like a sin that'll never wash away

Keeps me lyin' sleepless through the night Am7 Abm7 Gm7

Gm7

Never thought I'd find these blues

Am7

Layin' here across my bed

Always knew the road I'd choose

I could see it in my head

Why things had to fall apart?

I may never understand

I sit here watching helpless, I'm the

Am7 Am7 Asus4

Stranger in the Band

Like a tear that'll never fall away
It's never been too far away
It's always been as close to me as skin
Always known this loneliness
It's an ever-present only-ness
Like an old familiar moan upon the wind
Never thought I'd find myself singing naked in the rain
Always held my mask up high so you couldn't see the pain
Why I feel the way I feel?
I may never understand
I sit here watching helpless, I'm the
Stranger in the Band

My secrets seem to seal my fate with a
100 million melodies
Leaving me with nowhere left to hide
I can hear the siren sighs of a 100 million memories
Whispering to me from the Other Side
Never thought I'd let you take a stroll across my heart
Always knew that if I did, it would only be the start
Maybe if I ramble on you will finally understand
This is just a visit, I'm the Stranger in the Band